DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-29 are presented for examination. Claims 1-29 have been amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Perlman et al. (US 6,141,693).

4. As per claim 1, Perlman teaches the invention as claimed including a network element [5, Fig. 4] having a transcoder [66, Fig. 4] for transcoding content of a content creator or provider that is presented in a certain form on one type of support terminal, node or device, wherein the improvement comprises that the transcoder having a transcoder operation module for transcoding the content based on one or more permissible transcoding operations authorized by the content creator or provider so as to present the content in a different and acceptable form on another type of support terminal, node or device [col. 6, lines 8-26 & 30-61; the transcoding procedure is performed by transcoder based on file type or client's hardware/software capability without changing the content of the information, i.e., the transcoder responds to a data signal and applying transcoding which is permissible by the content creator or provider].

5. As per claim 2, Perlman teaches the network element is a creator terminal, a content provider, a proxy/gateway or a client terminal [col. 6, lines 3-8; col. 8, lines 48 – col. 9, line 2].

6. As per claim 3, Perlman teaches that the permissible transcoding operations include any transformation, alteration or manipulation of the content permitted by the content creator or provider [col. 6, lines 30-42].

7. As per claim 4, Perlman teaches that the permissible transcoding operations include a resolution reduction module for reducing the resolution of the content [col. 6, line 33].

8. As per claims 5 and 6, Perlman teaches that the content is reduced by either a maximum decimation factor or ratio or a minimum resolution in pixels [col. 6, lines 33-34].

Art Unit: 2154

9. As per claim 7, Perlman teaches that the permissible transcoding operations include a color and bits per pixel modification for specifying if an image can be converted to gray scale or not, and minimum bits per pixel or number of colors or levels that can be used [col. 6, lines 33-37; col. 8, lines 55-64].

10. As per claim 8, Perlman teaches that the permissible transcoding operations include cropping for specifying a region of an original picture that must be preserved [col. 8, lines 58-64; col. 9, lines 9-54].

11. As per claim 9, Perlman teaches that the permissible transcoding operations include a quality reduction for allowing the content to be further modified by adding some distortions to an image [col. 7, line 44 – col. 8, line 25].

12. As per claim 10, Perlman teaches that a sequence of permissible image transcoding operations for image content includes cropping, an aspect ratio modification, a color and bits per pixel modification and a resolution reduction [col. 6, lines 8-19 & 30-61; col. 8, lines 58-64; col. 9, lines 9-54].

13. As per claim 11, Perlman teaches that the content includes images, graphics, video or audio [col. 3, lines 42-51].

14. As per claim 12, Perlman teaches that the transcoder responds to a signal containing the content and information about the permissible transcoding operations that may be applied on the content permissible by the content creator [the transcoding procedure is performed by transcoder based on file type or client's hardware/software capability without changing the content of the information, i.e., the transcoder responds to a data signal and applying transcoding which is permissible by the content creator or provider [col. 6, lines 8-26].

15. As per claim 13, Perlman teaches that the transcoder applies the permissible transcoding operations on the content and provides a transcoded content signal containing information about a transcoded content [col. 6, lines 8-19 & 30-61; col. 8, lines 7-12].

16. As per claims 14-24, since they are method claims of claims 1-11, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1-11 above.

17. As per claims 25-29, since they are system claims of claims 1-3 and 8, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1-3 and 8 above.

Conclusion

18. Applicant's arguments filed on 4/14/05 for claims 1-29 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

In the remarks, applicant argued in substance that Perlman does not disclose the step of transcoding the content based on permissible transcoding operations authorized by the content creator or provider.

19. Examiner respectfully traverses applicant's remarks:

The newly added limitation only indicate the content will be modified into the format that is acceptable by other devices etc., there is no any claim language directs to transcoding the content based on permissible transcoding operations authorized by the content creator or provider. Furthermore, the office action has been revised to address new limitations in the claims. Thus, Perlman is still a relevant prior art reference.

20. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP §706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

21. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later
